FYI, just following up on discussion at OW Staff. Disappointing, as Lynda says, but also an example of how difficult it is to steer journalists from the sensational/controversial side of any news story.

is very disappointing

Ex. 5 - Deliberative

Ex. 5 - Deliberative the Oregonian is leading with $1.2M in penalties. See second link. Don't bother with the first link that only leads to a one-liner.

Subject: Oregon CZARA Decision in the News

All,

Here's the story from the AP reporter, but it's so short, I don't know if there's a longer version that might get published somewhere else.

<http://www.sfchronicle.com/news/science/article/Regulators-Oregon-logging-rules-don-t-protect-6051532.php>

<http://www.khq.com/story/27985991/regulators-oregon-logging-rules-dont-protect-clean-water>

And here's one from the Oregonian, with a huge factual error in the last paragraph, and arguably smaller errors throughout:

http://www.oregonlive.com/environment/index.ssf/2015/01/feds_reject_oregons_coastal_po.html

"To date - 19 years past the deadline - 10 states' plans have received approval."

Actually, 22 states & territories have received full approval.
